WE NOMINATE

William Henry Walker 2d, veteran member of Princeton Borough Council, a widely respected architect with an ever-growing practice, and an articulate and perceptive Princetonian, who invariably "calls a spade a spade" as Borough and Township together — and, more often, separately — continue to ponder problems of evolution and development. This past week, with constituent parts of Princeton discussing the future of the Borough's Witherspoon School, the 51-year old Walker clearly indicated that he is interested in "any legitimate suggestion" bearing upon the usage of the key property being peddled by the Borough Board of Education with a $100,000 price-tag.

A member of the Borough's governing body since 1959, when first elected by a lopsided margin and "sworn in" by a Democratic Mayor to fill the unexpired term of a newly resigned Republican Councilman, this pipe-chomping native of Long Island has been largely concerned with two areas of signal importance. For the past several years he has been the most conscientious and energetic Police Commissioner of the post-World War II era, constantly seeking to strengthen a top-flight Department, and has also worked with the Council's Committee on Health, Recreation and Welfare in the hope of broadening the base of services to those in need of guidance and a helping hand.

Walker, a member of the Princeton Class of 1936 and an honors graduate of the Princeton School of Architecture, remains convinced, on the threshold of his third successive campaign for a three-year term, that all too few men and women of promise are accepting the challenges of municipal elective office. Characteristically, he fails to remember that over the past six years, without remuneration of any kind, he has averaged 45 hours of service a month, a figure excluding any and all time devoted to the Borough outside of formal Borough meetings and conservatively approximating 70 eight-hour days of work per annum "in Princeton's Service."

A full-time resident of Princeton for almost two decades, and for many years closely associated with the late Kenneth Kassler, one of the brilliant architects of his generation, Walker, in spite of the protestations of his Democratic opponents and critics, has not hesitated to define "where I stand." While he describes himself as a "pro-consolidationist," one who has said that "ideally Princeton is one community which never should have fostered two separate governments," he believes that the projected "regionalization of the two School Districts" is "infinitely more important at this time than consolidation of Borough and Township."

Nor would Walker, the son of a distinguished artist, the father of four, and a naval veteran of World War II, limit his observations to comments of projections for Princeton's future. He has long insisted that Borough and Township, and the contiguous municipalities, must face up to the realities of traffic (and the demands of the "insolent chariots") and the significance of middle-income housing, meaning adequate facilities for those "now in our midst" as opposed to those who might well be attracted by Greater Princeton.

For his dedication to a community in which he believes so intensely; for stressing that in local government the point of view of the individual is vastly more significant than any "party philosophy"; for speaking out — and with an open mind — on matters of public moment; he is TOWN TOPICS's nominee as

WATER, WATER

"It Wants to Rain." Water was the conversational keystone in Princeton this week — the kind that rains down and the kind that people drink.

Rain that began around 1 a.m. Sunday brought more than an inch and a half to Princeton lawns, swimming pools and gardens before it drizzled to a quiet stop late Sunday afternoon.

"The farther south, the more rain," observed Princeton's weatherman, David Ludlum, as he scanned reports from Albany showing no rain at all and from the Catskills showing very little indeed. Philadelphia, on the other hand, had 1.99 inches.

"It wants to rain — that's a weatherman's phrase — and we're probably in for good, normal rainfall now," Mr. Ludlum predicted. "You know, all signs fail in times of drought: you can look at a cloudy sky and know it won't bring rain."

"What? No Picnic? Sunday's rainfall was a surprise. Sunny weather had been forecast and picnic baskets packed. But a front stalled to the south, and there it was. It rains for only about 150 miles north of a front and that's why Princeton got it and the Catskills and Northern New Jersey reservoirs didn't, Mr. Ludlum explained.

We've had a drought up to now because we haven't had any of those northeasters — the coastal storms that bring rain to this area, Mr. Ludlum points out that they normally begin in July, and that's why it wants to rain."

Incidentally, Princeton has been so drought-conscious that nobody seems to have noticed what a nice summer it is. A succession of cool fronts has kept us very comfortable indeed.

All over Princeton, brown lawns have responded to the steady rainfall; but the greenest, lushest lawns for miles around are the fairways of two golf clubs: Springdale and Baldens Brook. Both clubs irrigate their fairways from sources which do not deplete the public water supply.

WHY, THAT'S RAIN! Sure enough, it is. Rain fell on Princeton in good, wet substantial quantity on Sunday (1.5+inches) and Nassau Street seemed as surprised as anyone. And one Princeton weatherman says the drought is broken. Don't believe it? See "This is Princeton."

Water to Drink. June was a record month for the Princeton Water Company, whose meters ticked off an average of 4,300,000 gallons a day pumped to the customers. This compares with an average of 4,500,000 gallons a day in June of last year.

The Elizabethtown Water Company, parent of the Princeton Water Company, sent its customers 108.6 million gallons a day during June —28% more than a year ago and a record month in the company's 111-year history.

But the month ahead may turn out to be rough for the Princeton Water Company. Last week's announcement by Borough and Township Boards of Health that fluoridation would begin about August 1, has already brought some vigorous response. (See: "Mailbox", page 26).

Mark M. Jones, 159 Library Place, has notified the company that "if fluoridation is put over on the Princeton community, I will hold each person who is a party to it legally and personally responsible in case there is reason to believe that adverse effects upon members of my family have resulted from it."

Chemistry 1. Fluoride will be added to the water in a ratio of about 1 to 1,000,000, according to Board of Health officials. As to the relative harmlessness of calcium fluoride or sodium fluoride, health authorities say that the metallic element, whether calcium or sodium, isn't important.

Princeton's water, as it comes from the Princeton Water Company, now contains 10 milligrams of sodium per litre and 30 milligrams of calcium per litre. Fluoridation will add only one milligram of sodium per litre, assuming that sodium fluoride is the chemical used.

Mr. Jones, in his letter to the water company, states his belief that "there is no evidence before the community which would prove that there is a need for the fluoridation of city water.

"There is no reliable evidence that fluoridation is a remedy which properly may be utilized in the public interest. There is no reason why fluoridation should be put over without due notice and proper public discussion. Any who think they want fluorides always can get what is necessary and can take care of it individually."

In answer to these arguments, Borough and Township Boards of Health will provide interested persons with the titles of monographs on fluoridation that have appeared in various scientific publications over a period of years.

How to swallow a bitter pill

First, find a bitter pill. There are so few nowadays. It all started because children, bless 'em, are so good at resisting bad-tasting medicine. You can medicate their chins or hair, but getting the stuff in them is beyond the ken of science. Kids can spit a country mile. So pharmacists began sugar-coating pills, putting medication in capsules, or mixing with sweet syrup. And we sooo found that adults, too, like medicine the easy way. So now, most of our prescriptioos are quite pleasant to take. If you should run into one of the few bitter ones, believe us, there are good medical reasons for it.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson this week on the Mayor-Council decision to take the LaPlaca apartment case to the Superior Court's Appellate Division.

Charles LaPlaca had asked the Borough Zoning Board last year for a variance so that he could build 40 apartments on his three-acre Harrison Street plot. The land is zoned for single-family dwellings and apartments are not a "permitted use."

The Zoning Board granted the variance, but Borough Council on June 4, 1964, said "no," and told Mr. LaPlaca he could not build.

He took the case to court, and on May 14, Superior Court Judge George H. Barlow decided in his favor, and said that there weren't enough facts in the record to justify Council's refusal. The court used words such as "arbitrary" and "capricious" to describe Council's action, and stated that, although Mayor and Council had the right to reach conclusions different from those of the Zoning Board, they could do so only on the basis of a factual record.

"What Must We Do?" "Mayor and Council had given very thorough consideration to Mr. LaPlaca's case and were not 'capricious' at all," Mayor Patterson continued. "What we want to know is, 'How can the court come to such a conclusion?' 'What would we have to do to get the court to come to a different conclusion?'"

Mayor, Council and Hugh D. Wise, special counsel for the case, are concerned about precedent. They are afraid the court's decision means that the Borough must protect itself by being an adversary in every zoning case, calling expert witnesses, compiling legal evidence and so on.

Mayor Patterson suggested this week that if Council participated to such an extent in zoning hearings, a conflict of interest might arise, since the question at hand would inevitably come before Council in the course of time for a final decision. In a word, may take anything before the Zoning Board at all?

The "Why." At its June 9th meeting last year, Council told Mr. LaPlaca that it was turning him down because a variance would be "spot zoning." Apartments are a non-conforming use, Council said, and any zoning change should be done by ordinance, not by a spot decision. Besides, Council decided it was not appropriate to grant such a variance while the Planning Board was looking into the whole general question of zoning.

On July 14, Council adopted a formal resolution setting down its reasons for saying "no." Starting with the classic legal argument that a variance would be a substantial detriment to the public good and impair the intent and purpose of the zoning ordinance, Council went on to say that the apartments would produce more traffic and people than single-family houses would or indeed, than the public housing for the elderly would.

(Public housing for the elderly, next door to the proposed apartment site on land still owned by Mr. LaPlaca, had already been given a variance for public policy considerations which Council didn't believe were present in Mr. LaPlaca's own case.)

The resolution also pointed out that most of the existing uses in the area harmonized with the zoning ordinance, and that Mr. LaPlaca could develop his land to conform if he wished to do so. The fact that Princeton needs apartments, doesn't constitute a special reason, Council decided. Council's conclusion: no special reasons for giving Mr. LaPlaca his variance had ever been shown.

As a guide for the future, Mayor and Council would like to know "What more could we possibly have said?"

Mr. LaPlaca's attorney must now ask the court for a formal order directing Mayor and Council to give Mr. LaPlaca his variance. After the judge signs this, the Borough has 45 days to act on its decision to appeal.

FLORIDA HOME SET AFIRE

Princeton Girl Unhurt. The presence of Gail Blattenberger, 49 Randall Road, in a Negro home in St. Augustine Fla., owned by Mrs. Lucille Plummer, secretary of the Southern Leadership Conference, apparently sparked an arson attempt last week.

Mrs. Plummer told police that someone tried to burn down her home while her family and Miss Blattenberger were watching television. The flames were extinguished before any major damage was done and no one was injured.

Mrs. Plummer said her son saw a green pickup truck "full of white men" drive away just before the fire was discovered. She said a beachball filled with fuel had been placed under a 100-gallon liquid petroleum tank at the house, and that burning rags had been placed around the ball.

Miss Blattenberger, a graduate of Princeton High School and a sophomore at Smith College, is one of about 30 college students in St. Augustine to take part in a six-week tutorial project. She is teaching mathematics to high school-level students at Florida Memorial College. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Blattenberger.

NINE METERS SAVED

Resolution Amended. "Once the meters are gone, they're gone and once the customers are gone, the rateables are gone." This gloomy aphorism was delivered Tuesday night at Borough Council by John B. Redding Jr. of J. B. Redding & Son, 234 Nassau.

He does not like the resolution sent by Council to the State Highway Department asking for the elimination of nine meters on the south side of Nassau between Murray and Olden and restrictions on 11 meters between Olden and Charlton. The Redding plumbing, heating and appliance firm is directly across Nassau from the Olden intersection.

Mr. Redding was speaking in reply to a suggestion from Councilman Enoch Durbin that "we try it and see"; that is, remove the meters, prohibit parking between 8-9 a.m. and 4-6 p.m. and see whether business is indeed damaged, even though traffic may flow more swiftly. But, as Mr. Redding says, once the meters are gone, they're gone.

So, acting on a motion by Councilman William H. Walker, Council decided to amend its resolution so that the nine doomed meters would be saved, and subjected to the same restrictions as the other 11. The amendment was passed, with Councilman Alfred E. Sorenson casting a "nay" vote. The final decision, of course, rests with the state.

"We Recommend . . ." To help Council with its discussions about this segment of Nassau, Wilbur Smith and Associates, who made that traffic survey this spring, sent along their recommendations about traffic and parking on Nassau between Washington and Harrison.

After Borough engineer Thomas Fowler had read them aloud, Mr. Walker warned Council and audience that these were merely one part of a survey, and that it would be a long, long time before even a public hearing would be held on any of Wilbur Smith's ideas.

Highlights:

- Annual average daily traffic at Nassau and Washington Road is 13,000 cars; at Harrison, 8,000. These volumes cannot be increased unless parking is eliminated, at least on one side.
- North side of Nassau: The two-hour meters between Vandeventer and Moore should be reduced to one hour. Parking should be prohibited entirely between Maple and Evelyn Place.
- South side of Nassau: All meters between the Nassau Street School (approximately) and Harrison should be removed, and parking prohibited. The one-hour meters from Washington up to the school could remain.
- In other words: all parking on both sides of Nassau between Maple and Harrison should be eliminated.

The recommendations suggest:

- At Nassau and Washington: two westbound lanes, one eastbound lane.
- At Nassau and Moore, one westbound lane and a parking lane; two eastbound lanes, including one for left turns into Moore.
- At Nassau and Harrison: one westbound lane; two eastbound lanes including one for a left turn into North Harrison.

Mr. Redding protested that none of this solved the parking problem; it only moved traffic. Mayor Henry S. Patterson replied that Council had been hunting for off-street parking in the Charlton-Olden area for some time but hadn't yet been successful.

He reminded the audience, and Mr. Redding in particular, of the time and effort Councilmen had devoted to off-street parking in past years, and the frustrations they had encountered.

"The effort we have, the time we have, the disappointments we can take," Mayor Patterson concluded.

And Furthermore. . . In other business, Council passed a resolution urging a study to determine the feasibility of a joint regional sewer in the Stony Brook-Millstone watershed. The study would be paid for by the state.

Among the communities involved would be Hopewell, Pennington, Montgomery and Hillsborough Townships, West Windsor, Plainboro, Cranbury and, of course, Princeton Borough and Township. J. A. Farrington, assistant to Princeton University President Robert F. Goheen, is chairman of the committee named to start the study.

John P. Moran, Princeton University's director of physical planning, asked Council to reduce the speed limit on Washington Road from 25 to 15 miles an hour, and to designate the Borough portion of Washington as "school zone."

Mr. Walker told Mr. Moran that the state doesn't allow a municipality to set a lower mph than 25. A "school zone" itself is 25, Mr. Walker said.

Hearings to Resume in August. Two zoning ordinance amendments — the off-beard B-4 and the site-plan — were offered up for public hearing, but there was minimal response. The Planning Board hasn't yet acted on either one and Council itself can't do anything until expiration of the Planning Board's 30-day action period.

The Planning Board shows no signs of making a decision on either measure either way, although both measures originated with the Board. So Borough Council will have to act on its own.

The 30-day period will be over by August 10, when Council will meet again, and the adjourned public hearing will begin again on that date. And this time, there will be response.

Taxi fares, within the Borough, will now be 75 cents instead of 60 cents. The ordinance, allowing the first rate change in five years, was quietly and unanimously passed.

EMPTY CAR KILLS WOMAN

Injures Husband. Mrs. Blanche Woolfe, 74, 7 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, and her husband, Raymond, injured last Wednesday when their car apparently rolled down a sloping driveway behind the Kingston Post Office and struck them.

Mr. Woolfe died in Princeton Hospital three hours after the freak accident. Mr. Woolfe, who has been Kingston's postmaster since 1955, remained in the hospital overnight and was released.

Franklin Township police said the postmaster and his wife had evidently returned to the post office at Church Street shortly before 6 p.m., after it had closed for the day. Police think that the car somehow began rolling down the incline with its doors open, knocked down the couple, and that Mrs. Woolfe was run over by one or more of the wheels.

SAFECRACKERS FOILED

By Laundry Safe. A large wall safe in the office of the University Laundry building, 99 Moore Street, proved to be more than match for would-be safecrackers last week. Police found their burglar tools abandoned at the scene.

John A. Archer, the owner, told Borough Police that the attempt had been made between 5 p.m. on Thursday and 7:40 the next morning. The safe door had been damaged, police said, but the safe itself was intact. They added the thieves entered the building by prying a screen from a rear window.

Detective Robert McAvenia and Pfl. Stanley Donald investigated.

Music to Everyone's Ears

I'd almost forgotten
That heavenly sound
The thrum of the rain
As it falls on the ground

Sunday plans were largely changed last weekend, but there were few who failed to appreciate the long-lost sight of steady, soaking rain and the verdant freshness that rose up from the earth to meet it.

The latest wave of heat and humidity might bring a shower or two on Thursday, but more likely the wind will chase it merely by swinging from southwest to northwest, without precipitating moisture. Generally fair, seasonably warm, somewhat less humidity through the weekend.

More successful was the person who entered the fifth floor room of James Jope last Thursday and escaped with $70-340 taken from a metal box located in a desk drawer. Mr. Jope resides at the Graduate College.

Police said nothing else was taken. They added that the intruder apparently had a key to the door's lock as there was no sign of any forced entry.

AFTER THE FIREWORKS . . .

More Fireworks. Borough Police reported that up to and during the Fourth of July fireworks program held Saturday in Palmer Stadium, everything was quiet — until a gang of young teenagers decided to provide some fireworks of their own after the program.

According to Lt. Francis Maguire, five to ten boys between 12 and 15 left Palmer Stadium carrying the remains of roman candles that had been used during the program. "They looked like burned out road flares," Lt. Maguire added.

"The first report we received of their activities," Lt. Maguire continued, "was that they approached three boys on Witherspoon Street near Nassau and roughed one of them up." From there, the youths went down Hulfish to the Playhouse where they ran, shouting into the outer lobby, into the theatre itself and out a side exit. Moments later, one held open a door while another tossed a firecracker into the theatre lobby.

Continuing their rampage, the youths turned next to the parking lot adjacent to the theatre. Here they snapped

FRESH AIR IN PRINCETON: Three little girls playing with their dolls in the shade of a tree is a classic summertime scene. Here, Thomasina Wallace (left) who lives in Queens, enjoys the Princeton outdoors as the "Fresh Air" guest of Ruth Gilbert (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Gilbert Jr., 59 Shady Brook Lane. the serials of five cars.

"We never were able to catch up to them," said Lt. Maguire. "Seems we were always just a step behind." According to him, subsequent investigations by juvenile officer James Kopliner revealed that the youths had come from Trenton.

HUNCH PAYS OFF

Owner Reunited with Ring

Because Mrs. Frederick T. Richards, 19 Pardoe Road, had second thoughts about the value of a ring she found, a Trenton woman and her lost diamond ring were reunited.

As told by Borough police, Mrs. Richards found a ring on Chambers Street on July 2. At the time, she thought little of it because the ring was dirty, tasteless and appeared to be of little value. However, to be sure, Mrs. Richards had it appraised by a Princeton jeweler who told her that the ring was worth about $500.

Mrs. Richards then called police to inquire if anyone had reported a lost diamond ring. Someone had. Two days earlier, John Huff, 2 Reeder Place, Trenton, told police that he had lost his wife's platinum and diamond ring on Nassau Street between Chambers and Witherspoon.

TWO CARS DAMAGED

By Vandals. The incidence of vandalism dipped considerably in the Borough last week but not to the zero mark.

A Harrison Street resident told police that the hinge of the glove compartment had been broken off and an egg had been thrown against the windshield of her car while it was parked at the rear of her home. It happened over the weekend.

Earlier in the week, Richard Knight manager of the Princeton Playhouse on Palmer Square, reported the puncturing of the left front tire of his car while it was parked in the lot at Hulfish and John Streets. In relating the incident, Lt. Francis Maguire remarked that the police have to contend with an "awful lot of mischief in that area."

"Palmer Square used to employ a night watchman there," he continued, "but they gave it up. A lot of residents of Palmer Square park their cars there and there's a lot of personal property just sitting out there should be a night watchman."

BIRTH LIST

Nineteen Are Born. Ten girls and nine boys were born last week in Princeton Hospital.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Abeles, 80 Wheatsheaf Lane, July 3; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Kohn, 109 Lynwood Drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rosner, 741 President Avenue, Trenton, both on July 4; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cheney, 68 Main Street, Cranbury, July 6; Mr. and Mrs. William T. Carpenter, 223A Marshall Street, July 7; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin J. Allison, 141 S. Bell Avenue, Yardley, Pa., and Dr. and Mrs. Cecilio Delgra, 21 Henry Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Barton Thomas, 208 Bayard Lane, all on July 10.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holland Jr.,

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By Archimedes (Bernard)

Women's interest in beauty is an understandable immediacy, but just for fun, let's look at what the human race may have to work with in the future.

If we take the word of a noted biology professor, the human animal is headed toward becoming a toeless Yul Brynner. Don't get exitey though, ladies, this won't come to pass for another 65 centuries or so.

As concerns hair, the professor points out that this shield of primitive man's against the elements is losing this utility to modern-day hats and houses. Today, hair has no practical function other than adornment and that's bad?

If you want hair that really adorns, make an appointment for a charming permanent. Our care, patience and skill combine to turn out permanents that are noticed. Make that appointment at TAVERNWOOD BTY. MANOR & COSMETIC SHOP, 69 Palmer Square West, 924-3903. Open 6 days a week plus Thursday and Friday evenings . . . "Preferred by Particular Women."

CARS SKID OFF ROAD

On Saturday, Two cars skidded off rain-slicked roads in the Township Saturday in separate accidents which occurred within two hours of each other.

At 2:11 in the afternoon, Dennis Oswald, 39, of Capetown, Africa, skidded on Cherry Hill Road onto a high bank, his car turning over on its roof. The car's roof, windshield, hood, fenders and door were dented but the only damage to Mr. Oswald was a scratch on his right arm.

Police reported the road was slippery following a slight drizzle. It was not raining at the time of the mishap. Mr. Oswald's battered station wagon, owned by Richard Hargreaves, of 100 State Road, was towed away.

At 3:50, Frank H. Duncan, 40, of Carter Road, lost control of his car when it went into a "flathead" skid on Rockrimmon Road, some 300 feet east of Brookstone Drive. He escaped injury.

Mr. Carter told police he was going up a slight upgrade, about 30 miles per hour, when he lost control. His car spun into the opposite lane and then struck an embankment along the shoulder of the road. The front end, both fenders, hood and left front door of his 1963 sedan were crumpled.

The roadway was examined by Pfc. Michael Koplinger. In his report he said he found the surface to be in an extremely slippery condition, as oil from the roadway was "bleeding" through. He ascribed the cause for the bleeding to the light rain falling at the time.

THERE'S A HOLE IN THE WALL: Down comes 95-year old Reunion Hall on the University campus, not to make way for anything in particular at the present time but simply because four brand new dormitories were completed last year and it has now outlived its usefulness. In one of the rooms to the right, a mantel above a fireplace and a map on the wall were still standing after the demolition crane's first swipe. (Alan Richards Photo)

Hazards of Rosedale

Repeated accidents on Rosedale Road, especially in wet weather, may be caused by the type of surface county engineers use.

Although Rosedale goes through both the Borough and the Township, it is actually a county thoroughfare, maintained and surfaced by Mercer County.

According to Frank Quinby, Township engineer, the county's 1964 re-surfacing came up "too fat"; that is oil in the mixture rose to the top and makes a kind of oil, in the mixture rose to Quinby says, if the tar isn't hot enough when the surface is laid, or if the weather conditions aren't right.

Pre – mixed blacktop is now used by both Township and Borough engineering departments on municipal streets and although it costs more, it makes a safer surface, Mr. Quinby says.

SOFTBALL STARTS

At Playgrounds. The past week marked the beginning of the annual softball competition among Borough and Township playgrounds. It was not a pitchers' league.

In the Junior League for boys 12 and under, Harrison Street, defeated Grover Park, 24-3, Community lost, 5-4 to Community Park. While High School was taking over the league lead with a pair of high-scoring shutouts — 10-0 over Littlebrook, and 10-0 over Riverside — Grover Park was routing Riverside, 24-1. Community Park won its first game when it registered a 23-5 triumph over Littlebrook.

In the senior league for boys 16 and under, Harrison Park and Riverside are leading after one week. Riverside defeated Grover, 16-8, and High School, 12-3, and Harrison topped Community Park, 9-5.

The variety and quantity of contests and games offered at the grounds last week will make many an adult head spin. For example at Grover Park, where over 230 children are registered, the week's activities were highlighted by a doll contest for the most beautiful and most unusual doll in two age groups, and oldest coin contest (winner was a Swedish One Ore 1732 cooper coin), a basketball speed shooting contest and a football throw for accuracy competition.

At the Jugtown Playground where over 100 are registered, this week has been designated tournament week. Included will be competition in checkers, chess, mill, Chinese checkers, ping pong, zelbell, horse hoes and a basketball foul shooting contest. At the high chew playground, last week here was a kick ball game for children 10 and under, a bicycle decoration contest, dodgeball, and a balloon blowing contest.

The list is endless: Johnson Park featured a dog show, a hobby show and a special shell art contest, while at Community Park there were track events, and, on one afternoon, plaster molds were poured and then painted.

At Riverside there were those out of the ordinary events: A cracker-eating contest, funniest hat and bicycle racing events and even a knitting class. A "drawing your face" contest and a flying saucer contest were among the full range of pastimes at Harrison Park.

But the most appealing performance — one that seems to underline what playgrounds are for — is the feat engineered by Abraham Menashe at Harrison Park. In an event that is reported to require great skill and endurance, Abraham balanced a stick for 55 minutes and one second.

RCA IS EXPANDING

Construction Has Begun. A new extension to the southwest wing at RCA's David Sarnoff Research Center will be added to house the research center's administrative offices, Dr. James Hillier, vice-president of RCA Laboratories has announced.

At the same time, a new exhibit facility will be added to the northwest wing adjacent to the auditorium and library. This two-level addition will contain a 1,600 exhibition area and storage vaults for displaying materials bearing on the early history of electronic science and industry, including historic recordings, examples of early inventions, rare books and manuscripts.

In describing the new exhibit facility and the southwest wing extension, Dr. Hillier explained that they are both part of a long-range building program. The extension to the Southwest wing, he said, will include a new main entrance to the Laboratories facing Fairview Avenue.

The three-story administrative wing will provide 52,000 square feet of additional laboratory facilities. Both extensions will be built by Lewis C. Bowers & Sons, Inc.

FIFTEEN ARE FINED

In Magistrate's Court, Fifteen Princeton area residents were fined last week in Municipal Court.

Richard Lockhart, 46, 54 Leigh Avenue, and Mrs. Virginia J. Oates, 62, 34 Edgehill Street, were each fined $15 by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams, Jr. for careless driving. Fined $12 each were Mrs. Margaret A. Young, 43, 130 Longview Drive, and George F. Pinelli, 31, 214 Valley Road, both for stop sign violations, and George B. Gifford, 79, 199 Ewing Street, red light.

Others fined $15 each include James H. Moore 3rd, 31, Cook Place, Hopewell, overdue inspection; Hermann Hatzfeldt, 24, 2327 Graduate College, driving on the sidewalk, and Preston Evers, 25, 104 Leigh Avenue, unregistered vehicle. An improper display of plates violation drew $10 fines for Robert E. McCracken, 18, 27 Olden Lane, and Ernest R. Pignona, 18, Cherry Hill Road.

Mrs. Anna R. Chiddeston, 36, Cherry Hill Road, paid fines totaling $45 on two separate charges of speeding. A pedestrian, Walter Tash, Jr., 18, 44 Jefferson Road, was fined $10 for crossing other than at a crosswalk.

For Swimmers by Red Cr...

ton Chapter of the Red Cross. Mrs. Anna Rehfeldt, the chapter's Water Safety Director, points out that neglect and carelessness in the water often results in accidents, and urges that these rules be carefully observed:

1. Avoid swimming in the hottest part of the day. Cold water and hot sun often cause cramps.

2. Distance is deceiving. Swim only half as far out as you think you can.

3. Never swim in an unguarded area. Make sure a lifeguard is on duty.

4. Know your swimming area before diving in. Submerged rocks and unexpected shallow waters can be deadly.

5. Never swim alone. Swim with at least one companion. This rule applies even to expert swimmers.

6. Never allow children in the water without a supervising adult. This applies to all swimming areas, including back yard wading pools.

7. The Red Cross urges cautious use of tubes or inflated rubber toys when swimming. In deep water, these objects can easily slip away from children.

8. Always wear a life jacket yourself when in a boat, and make sure everyone in the boat is supplied with one.

TWO FOR THE SHOW

At Gallery 100. Two artists with widely different concepts of reality and highly individual ideas about technique, are on view during July at Gallery 100.

Margaret K. Johnson is showing her monotypes, sandcasts and sculpture and Katharine Steele Renninger is exhibiting her interior and exterior views of Victorian houses, executed in casein on canvas.

Monotype is a technique in which the artist paints on glass and then pulls a single print from the wet paint. This produces one-of-a-kind "paintings" and whatever revision the artist makes produces another, and different, rendering. Mrs. Johnson's prints are fanciful, sometimes witty and always sure.

Mrs. Renninger's cool, careful paintings of empty interiors are fascinating studies in line and plane as she views the successive opening doors in an attic, or the spiral steps leading downward from a landing.

The Gallery 100 exhibit, which also includes welded steel sculpture by Arturo Bassols, will continue through July 31. The Gallery is closed on Saturday afternoons.

Dr. Charles Rosenblum

Topics Of The Town

PROMOTION ANNOUNCED

For Dr. Rosenblum. The newly-created position of senior investigator at Merck, Sharp & Dome Research Laboratories in Rahway has been given to Dr. Charles Rosenblum of 20 Greenacre Drive. He is director of the radioactivity laboratory there.

The company said that the promotion represents a further extension of its "dual ladder" system of advancement, thus providing the research scientist with opportunities parallel, but not identical, to those open to the administrator. It gives the scientist the chance to advance to levels equal to the highest managerial plateau in the research division.

Dr. Rosenblum joined the research staff of Merck & Co. in 1941, following four years as a member of the Department of Chemistry at Princeton. After four years with the U.S. Army during World War II, including service with the Manhattan District project, which developed the atomic bomb, he returned to Merck in 1946.

ANNIVERSARY DUE

For Mail Users Council. The Princeton Mail Users Council will celebrate its fourth anniversary on Monday. The organization was established in cooperation with the Post Office Department to facilitate the speeding up of mail delivery.

Members of the Council will be the guests of Educational Testing Service at a luncheon at the ETS Conference Center on Thursday, July 22. James J. Doherty, regional director of the Philadelphia Postal Region, will speak, and Louis Springsteen of ETS will act as toastmaster.

John Dilworth, Princeton Isacling postmaster, is the council's sponsor. George Polkowski ETS, is chairman; Miss Betty de Sherbinin, Roger Williams, secretary; Raymond Combs, First National Bank, treasurer; Russell W. Bloom,

No Vacation Here

Pointing out that the Princeton Blood Donor Service never goes on vacation, the Princeton chapter of the Red Cross has issued a call for volunteers who will be available to give blood during the summer months.

Because so many are out of town during this season, the need for those who will and the program is greater than usual. June, for example, was the service's busiest month this year: 185 donors were scheduled by the Red Cross to give blood, and 157 were able to do so.

Many lives have been saved by this free service—one for which most other towns and cities make a substantial charge. Volunteers are asked to register with the Red Cross today (telephone 924-2404).

RCA, committee chairman; and Louis Springsteen, equipment advisory chairman.

"IN APPRECIATION"

Westminster Alumni Honored. Two retiring officers of Westminster Choir College who are also alumni, were honored Saturday as 70 alumni leaders gathered in Princeton for luncheon.

John T. Clough, director of alumni affairs and placement for the past eight years, received a gift and a plaque saluting him "as a good friend-wise counselor and able administrator."

Dr. Alexander McCurdy, retiring head of the organ department, was honored with a plaque "in appreciation of twent-five years of illustrious service to Westminster Choir College."

Alumni Merit Awards were presented to John A. Davis Jr., '47; George Lynn, '38; Charles F. D Higgins, '33 and Cecil T. Stewart, '33.

Correction

In last week's story on resident of the Princeton community who had served in the Armed Forces during World War II, Mrs. Olive Hoffman was listed as a sergeant in the WAC. No non-com, she was actually a major.

It is also worth pointing out that the story was by no means intended to be all-inclusive, purporting rather to provide a random sample of women who were in uniform two decades ago and what they are doing today. There were necessarily omissions; space would by no means permit inclusion of every Princeton woman who served her country during the last war.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

THE LIVING IS EASY in this appealing clapboard one-story house high over Edgerstoune Road. It's easy because, though the house has an attractive rambling look, the floor plan is actually compact and efficient without being at all squeezed. It's also easy because of one particularly delightful addition. Adjoining the den is a flagstone-floored, glass-walled heated "porch room" with a three-way outlook charming enough to keep a family happily settled right there most of the time! For formal entertaining, however, there is a more elegant living room and pretty dining room with spacious built-in china cupboards. At one end of the house are three airy bedrooms and two tiled baths; off the excellent kitchen, a maid's suite designed to attract someone to help make the living easier!

The grounds, too, are both attractive and planned for easy maintenance! The sloping, normally-green lawn is edged by hemlocks leading into an enchanting little woodsey grove in the back. Space is there for as much gardening as green thumbs could cultivate; but the property, as it stands, is made to order for people who don't want to spend long hours "householding."

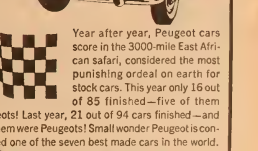
PEUGEOT—THE CAR THAT DOMINATES THE WORLD'S ROUGHEST RALLY



Year after year, Peugeot cars score in the 3000-mile East African safari, considered the most punishing ordeal on earth for stock cars. This year only 16 out of 85 finished—five of them Peugeots! Last year, 21 out of 94 cars finished—and 6 of them were Peugeots! Small wonder Peugeot is considered one of the seven best made cars in the world.

LITTLEBROOK SCHOOL: 5 bedrooms, fireplaced recreation room, and large (18 by 30) screened porch overlooking a sunny yard — these are just a few features of our new exclusive listing. For the large family, there is room and to spare. At least 3 bedrooms are extra large, the other 2 are comfortably generous in size. The kitchen, with its own large breakfast area, together with the panelled "2nd living room" lend themselves to informal family living; the vinyl floored entry hall, gracious living and dining rooms to more formal entertaining. OH! the dining room (the spacious porch lends itself equally well to family dinners or informal summer get-togethers.

Built just over 8 years ago by a well known Princeton builder, the house is old enough to have a pleasant, lived-in, homey look — with the extras such as storms and screens, established planting (including pines bordering 3 sides of the property) bought and paid for by the present owner. After this, a child-filled neighborhood, a pretty Township street and walking distance to school. Could you ask for more? At a price of only $46,500? Yoho, Alone, K.M. BATTLE OF THE SEXES: As a rule, little boys don't like little girls and vice-versa, although this has been known to change as they grow older. This generalization seems to be born out in this week's question. Bill Shields (left) a high school junior, sees nothing wrong with girls, while Susan Winthrop says just about everything about boys annoys her. Joe Mattera lists his pet peeve about girls. In general, the replies are as varied as the personalities of those whom TOWN TOPICS' Inquiring Reporter questioned one warm summer day at the high school playground. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: What about girls (boys) annoys you the most?

Where asked: High School playground.

Bill Shields, 23 Chestnut Street, PHS junior: Nothing about them annoys me — they're perfect!

Susan Winthrop, 12, 30 Humbert Street, Witherspoon School: Almost everything!

Joe Mattera, 13, 41 Carnahan Place, Valley Road School: The way they dress. They don't dress too hot, they should wear some fancy clothes. They really don't wear the right kind of clothes.

Roger Voltz, 8, 214 Moore Street, Community Park School: You can't tell them anything. You can't give them advice. They think they know it all.

Linda Federico, 9, 105 Linden Lane, St. Paul's School: When they watch baseball. They're always hogging the TV set with their baseball games. It's baseball, baseball baseball! And when they hit you. Boys are always hitting girls.

Henry Shields, 23 Chestnut Street, 12, St. Paul's: They make me sick the way they walk and talk. They show off all the time; they think they're big.

Julia Procaccino, 13, 114 Linden Lane, St. Paul's School: All boys annoy me except for two — and I am not mentioning those two.

Sam Procaccini, 319 Witherspoon Street, PHS sophomore: The way they fix their hair. They pile it up too high.

Nick Gaudioso, 12, Oakland Road, Community Park School: They're always hanging around when you don't want them. They bug you.

Sandy Wible, 10, 6 Humbert Lane, Nassau Street School: When you're playing, boys try to come around and butt in.

Blair Turner, 10, 39 Hamilton Avenue, Nassau Street School: Boys are mean, they're not too bright and girls makes me sick. Certain ones are okay, though.

Anthony Mattera, 10, 41 Carnahan Place, Community Park School: Their fingernails. They wear them too long. If they get mad at you, they scratch you up.

Guido Procaccini, 12, 319 Witherspoon Street, Valley Road School: They way they talk. They talk kind of kooky. I can't understand a lot of them.

Douglas Bayern, 11, 152 Terhune Road, Community Park School: How did I get into this? Well, for one thing — and this doesn't aplly to all — I don't like the way they are always fussing with their hair. Also, I don't like the way teachers always seem to like girls best. I think they're kinda partial to them. If any of the girls in my class read this . . . (draws finger across his throat). Actually, it's quite hard to find anything wrong with them.

Andrew Mangone, 11, 40 Jefferson Road, St. Paul's School: They're sort of goofy, they act silly. Whenever they get mad at boys in school, they always run and tell the teacher.

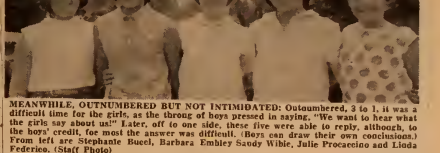
Barbara Embley, 9, 23 Humbert Street, Nassau Street School: I don't know about the rest but I can speak for one — my brother. It annoys me when he throws me in the pool and won't let me up.

Wayne Harmor, 10, 42 Chestnut Street, Nassau Street School: They have to be perfect in everything. And they always have to wear a pretty dress. Period.

Stephanie Bucci, 10, 260 Nassau Street, Montgomery Township School: Boys annoy me sometimes because they hit and punch me, most of the time for no reason at all.

Robert Leigei, 154 Bayard Lane, PHS sophomore: The way they act, they think they're too big, too wise — they know everything. Some think they are smarter than everybody else.

Jerry Lappan, 11, 201 Moore Street, St. Paul's School: Nothing specific, they just bother me generally, especially some of the goofy, silly things they say.



MEANWHILE, OUTNUMBERED BUT NOT INTIMIDATED: Outnumbered, 3 to 1, it was a difficult time for the girls, as the throng of boys pressed in saying, "We want to hear what the girls say about us!" Later, off to one side, these five were able to reply, although, to the boys' credit, for most the answer was difficult. (Boys can draw their own conclusions.) From left are Stephanie Bucci, Barbara Embley Sandy Wible, Julie Procaccino and Linda Federico. (Staff Photo)

News Of The THEATRES

THE GARDEN

Cinderella (now through Tuesday) is one in a long line of Disney achievements with feature-length cartoons. This one was here a number of years ago, but a new batch of children have reached movie-going age since then.

There is no need to describe the plot of one of the world's best - known stories. Suffice it to say that Disney has contributed his usual cartoon mastery, and the picture provides lively entertainment for children. No need for adults to stay away either.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

The Yellow Rolls Royce (now through Tuesday) has three different owners during the picture, resulting in three separate stories. There are a host of well-known stars in each tale, and film is generally quite comical throughout.

The car is first bought by Rex Harrison of the Foreign Office, as an anniversary gift for his wife, Jeanne Moreau, who uses the back seat to bed down with her lover, Edmund Purdom. The car goes back to the showroom, and in the second story it shows up in Italy, where gangster George C. Scott has bought it for his bored moll, Shirley MacLaine. When Scott is called back to the States to rub out a competitor, Miss MacLaine has time to be unfaithful in the back seat with a local photographer. Finally, in the third episode, American Ingrid Bergman acquires the car while on the way to Yugoslavia, and becomes involved with Omar Sharif — in the back seat, of all places.

"The Yellow Rolls Royce" may be considered a lemon by its owners, but most theatregoers should find it well worth the price of admission.

BORED GUN MOLL: Shirley MacLaine finds a way to relieve her "ennui" with help from Alain Delon in a scene from "The Yellow Rolls Royce," in its second week at the Playhouse and Prince.

THE PRINCE AND CINDERELLA: One of the all time favorites produced by Walt Disney, "Cinderella," returns to Princeton after many years. It's now at the Garden through Tuesday.

offered this weekend in the Open Air Theatre at Washington Crossing Park. The second string quartet of Aaron Safran, Princeton composer and teacher, will be played by the Allegria Quartet this Friday at 7:30 and on Sunday at 8:30, the Teen Band of Ramblerney under the direction of Phil Wood, will make its Washington Crossing debut.

This will be the second in a series of three chamber music programs by the Allegria group whose members are Nadia Koutren and Liljane Frascarelli, violins; Murray Laibman, viola and Frederick Zenone, cello. The quartet has been performing widely in Princeton, Trenton and Levittown since its public debut last spring.

In addition to the Safran work, the Allegria group will play the "Lark" quartet by Haydn and the "American" quartet by Dvorak.

Composed in 1960, the Safran quartet is in four movements built along classical lines. "I wanted to compose a quartet that was classical in design, romantic in feeling and contemporary in approach," Mr. Safran says of his work. "I was less interested in emulating some of the more advanced techniques in contemporary composition and more concerned with creating a piece of music that was a synthesis of early twentieth

To Us

CHINTZ AND PRINTS
Shop for Home. Two new shops in Pennington and an old favorite in Princeton occupy our attention this time around.

Our first stop is Stephen's Upholstery at 44 South Main in Pennington, across the street from Summerown's art gallery and craft shop. "Stephen" — it's his first name — used to be associated with the Skillman upholstering establishment in Princeton and he has many years of experience in upholstering than you have pieces to upholster.

Stop in, on a cool, sunny summer morning, and look over his inventory with an eye to autumn decorating. It's a delightful shop, paneled in the country manner, with all the wares spread out for you to see, including chairs and sofas already finished so that you can examine workmanship.

As you can see from the pieces he has already finished for customers, Stephen is equally adept at Colonial wing chairs, modern straight-lines or Hollywood-style tufts. We saw a velvet Hollywood bed headboard, deeply dimpled; a Scandinavian modern sectional sofa in the trimmest, tautest tweed, sleek as a drum, and a little walnut side chair inviting enough to sit in right now.

Pennington - Princeton being the kind of community it is, Stephen emphasizes the colonial because that's what his customers want. In his window, the day we were there, he had a well - proportioned wing chair which he built himself right up from the bare frame. It was upholstered in the kind of peony — rose print which chintz ought to be but rarely is: a combination of deep red, warm claret, pink and the olive green of leaves, a fabric suitable for the summer because of its flower design and for the cold days ahead because of its color and warmth. And besides, it won't show the dirt.

This particular chair, as we say, was built from a Colonial frame, but you may choose a French Provincial, if you wish, or almost any style, from the sketches in Stephen's catalogue of fine frames. Then you have a piece of furniture custom made to your own use and tastes.

The fabric selection, for pieces you already own and would like to refresh, is almost limitless. Thumb through the velvets, for example. Feel the classic smoothness of a burgundy or the fine texture of a straited olive green (but not so straited that it's corduroy).

Antique velvets in burnished gold, or even cut velvet, will remind you of Victoria herself. But all the fabrics are 1065 — treated to be spot resistant.

Waverly and Grayson and Sella fabrics present a variety you can't imagine until you've pored over the books. Leedes' "Hickory Prints" and the Jamestown collection will appeal to you if your home is out of the 18th century. "Camelot" is a bit more modern but still with the flavor of older times.

U.S. Rubber's Naugahyde and other vinyls, some of them textured, will be perfect for your well-scuffed den furniture, and the tightly woven antique satin is right for grandmother's bedroom.

Stephen's shop also makes drapes, perhaps in the same fabric as the upholstery, perhaps in one of the sheers like the rayon-silk stripe, or the fibreglas with its open, fagoted weave.

If you're a better needle woman than we are and want to make your own, Stephen will sell you the fabric by the yard and give you his good wishes. Stop in from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., any day of the week, or call 737-3773.

. . . AND OLD GLASS

In New Gift Shop. Zoom out of the Pennington Quality Market driveway, cross West Delaware and you're in the parking lot of a new little shopping area, and directly in front of the Old Mill gift shop. You don't even have to turn the steering wheel.

Old Mill, last shop on the left, is the place to pick up the home-made candies you want for your week-end hostess, or the candles to light your porch or patio. And we'll bet you end up buying a new necklace for the man you buy neckties for.

In fact, we'll begin with the Claret Cooler?

What we mean is, "Is claret cooler?" or, "How about a claret cooler?"

We're referring, not to the cooler, but to the color, splashed liberally around Bamberger's these cool summer days. It's a wine dark red, of course, but easier than burgundy. We saw it in a rayon rub skimmer, slim as a wine stem, and in a three-piece summer suit obviously sewn with the traveler in mind.

Claret has also been poured into a pair of stretch slacks and matching Bermudas, so designed that ironing can be eliminated entirely. A claret pullover, sleeveless, cool of neck and finely knit of bouclé, will answer any need you have for something dark and city-fied.

There is even a classic tennis sweater — you know, the white kind with bright red and navy V-neck trim? — done entirely in claret with blue and white for contrast.

We're having ours with a lemonade.

peckties. They are from Ernest and soon will be from Rooster in ducky stripes, some with a feel of the southwest in their deep, desert colors. One even has a tiny cactus motif and another seems almost Aztec. They come in widths as narrow as one inch, but climb to two inches for conservatives.

Old Mill is proudest of its collection of South Jersey hand blown glass in reproduction. These decanters and bottles are made in South Jersey by elderly craftsmen who use reproductions of the old molds. Some bottles and flasks even have "Clayton, N. J." blown into the glass.

An amber decanter, splendidly deep in color against the light from a window, is one of the shop's handsomest pieces with its narrow fluting and dignified design. More "folk" in feeling is the decanter made like a bust of George Washington, in the amethyst, amber or brilliant turquoise. Smaller glass pieces are available, too, if you don't need a decanter. Prices are $2.50 to $5.95 and who knows? You may be buying a collector's item, because there seem to be no young apprentices to replace the elderly men who blow the glass today.

In the same vein, Old Mill has polished Stieff pewter in the Williamsburg and Sturbridge designs. Revere bowls and those old tea and coffee pots with their smooth rosewood handles are as lovely as ever.

To light your pewter-laid table, Old Mill has candles in 27 different colors, standard size. Bluegate candles with a Pagoda look would be fun to century harmonic and melodic concepts.

"In this respect, the work may appear conservative to those acquainted with the more avant - garde trends now prevalent in musical circles, but in 100 years, no one will really care whether the music was exactly up to date when it was composed. The most important thing is whether the music will evoke a meaningful experience for the listener."

"Ramblerney" is a champ in Pennsylvania specializing in dramatic workshops, jazz technique instruction and modern dance for children and teenagers.

Another "Ramblerney" group will return to Washington Crossing on August 8 and 9 for performances of Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Jiminy Cricket will be Kenneth Hemstead and Pinocchio will be Carol Ehmann. Others in the cast are Phil Kellman, who will play Geppetto, Joe Flynn who will be Foulfellow and Cindy Grauman, who has been chosen to portray Gideon.

Free tickets for the evening performances may be obtained by writing to "Theatre in the Park, Box Z, Trenton. Single tickets are available at the box-office for a contribution of $1.50. Sunday matinee tickets, all for a donation of $1, may be obtained either through the mail or the box-office.

QUARTET TO PLAY

Curtis, in Sundance. Music by Beethoven, Hindemith and Arriaga will be performed by members of the Curtis String Quartet Friday at 9 in the outdoor amphitheatre at Sundance in Upper Black Eddy, Bucks County, Pa.

On the following evening, also at 9, the harpsichordist Albert Fuller will play from the compositions of Rameau and Scarlatti.

For their Sundance program, the musicians of the Curtis Quartet have chosen the Beethoven Quartet in C major, Opus 59, No. 3, the "Rasoumovsky;" Hindemith's Quartet No. 3, Opus 22 and the Quartet in D minor by Juan Arriaga, the Spanish composer who died in 1826 at the age of 19 and was often called "the Spanish Mozart."

Mr. Fuller's program will include five pieces and the Suite in E minor by Jean Philippe Rameau, and 12 of Scarlatti's sonatas.

On the weekend of July 23-24, Sundance will present Robert Koff, violin and Louis Pagger, harpsichord on July 23 and the Josef Marx Baroque Ensemble on July 24. Reservations may be made by calling 215-847-5303.

ight on a summer party table.

And speaking of parties, Old Mill has a party aleeve with napkins, plates and party favors, and not just for kiddies' 10th birthdays either. On a cocktail napkin, "Careful, it's hollow" in reference to a guest's wooden leg, gives you the idea.

Tc wrap your party gift, Old Mill suggests its brown wrapping paper with the black etchings from Civil War days. "Heritage Gift wrap from Red Farm" it's called, and you never saw anything more useful. Heavy, completely opaque, with these authentic pen-and-ink drawings, it's the kind of wrapping paper you'll keep on hand year round. Six sheets on a roll.

Gifts and greeting cards match, and if you want a slim gift for a casual occasion look at Old Mill's Kay Dee hand towels. The 1966 calendar towels are for people who really plan ahead.

Four napkins and four mats combine in yellow gingham, or in print, or straw for summertime dining, and for a cool summer seat, try those round foam cushions covered with calico and primly ruffled.

WE'RE EATING OUT

Doors. Starting with a cooler made from one of Trader Vic's mixes — Scorpion, Mai Tai, London Sour, Navy Grog or Hawaiian Daiquiri — and serving non - alcoholic beverages to the young from the shelf where we keep the Lemon Squash and the fruit juices from Germany like the black currant juice and Lehr's white grape juice, (chilled, of course) we move into a pleasant week-end of summer refreshments.

We're at the Nassau Del, in case you are curious, and the mixes, as you know, are just that: you provide the alcohol.

Perhaps your summer salad will be dressed with champagne dressing, made like mayonnaise apparently, but with real champagne blended in. Meats can be dressed with Spice Islands' Regimental Meat Sauce, the India Brigade Chutney Sauce or the Champagne Mustard Sauce — maybe with vintage brew left over from the dressing?

Frozen sponge cake and sixegg angel food loaf are new in the Del's freezer. You may have either one in two sizes, and perhaps you'd like to serve them with one of those Howard Johnson ice-creams. Flavor variety here is endless. Lemon ice-cream, for example, as well as lemon sherbet. Coconut ice-cream and black raspberry. Bisque Tortoni, orange-pineapple or plain pineapple, all in ice-cream textures.

Sherbets include, besides that lemon, raspberry, orange and lime. Sherry produces raspberry or lemon ice in slices for your most imaginative desserts. For a topping, the Del dips out the Praises au Sirop from Belgium, although that bi-lingual country provides a label that includes "Aardbelen op sap" as well.

Guests will take a summer hostess the Macadamia lemon crisps or the coconut crisps. Blums Coffeeteens and Almondettes are light summer snacks and the S.S. Pierre summer candies are cool just to look at: minty greens and silvery lemons in a crystal cream collection; fruit marshmallows for a taste change and even cream roses. For the children, S.S. passes around the Children's Carnival box with its delightful animal forms. Why, they look good enough to eat!

Come Sail Your Boats!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I regret very much the incident that provoked Mrs. Holt to public complaint (TOWN TOPICS, July 8) about the University's apparent insensitivity to the desire of little boys to sail boats on the reflecting pool adjoining the new Woodrow Wilson School.

The little girl caught by the cameraman sailing her boat in the pool was not the first child to engage in this pleasant enterprise and we hope not the last. From time immemorial, children of all ages have been fascinated by expanses of water for sailboating. And so it should be!

Provided normal safety precautions are taken by supervising adults, properly behaved children are cordially invited to sail their small crafts in the handsomest reflecting pool in town.

MARVER H. BERNSTEIN
Dean, Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, Princeton University.

Referendum Advocated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The decision of the Princeton Water Company to fluoridate the Princeton water supply without a referendum is alarming. How can the Borough Council and the Township Committee be sure that the majority of individuals in the community desires to drink fluoridated water?

There does not seem any way to know just what percentage of fluoride an individual takes into his system with fluoridated water. It is a scientific fact that the fluoride content of water increases as it is boiled.

This causes an unknown concentration of fluoride when water is used for cooking. And naturally-fluoridated and artificially-fluoridated waters are not the same.

The fluorides found naturally are usually organic calcium fluorides which are in combination with other natural elements serving to inhibit and neutralize the toxic effects of fluorine, and which can be assimilated by the body; the artificially fluoridated water is obtained with sodium fluoride which is an inorganic cumulative poison 85 times more toxic than calcium fluoride, and cannot be assimilated by the body, and which when added to water, makes hydrofluoric acid, an extremely active and dangerous poison, used chiefly for etching glass.

Leading doctors and scientists in this country and other parts of the world do not agree with the U.S. Public Health Department. And, we know that the Government has erred in permitting the abuse of chemical sprays, as pointed out by the late Rachel Carson. Is it possible that another mistake is being made.

Fluoride tablets are available for all children needing them, and many believe that fluorides are actually dangerous for adults. Is it wise to inaugurate a program which is so controversial and so unnecessary? It must also be remembered that the machinery necessary for this project is expensive.

If there are individuals who would like to restore democracy to the Princeton community, kindly send me a postcard.

MARION LEON
(Mrs. Rene Leon)
Drakes Corner Road

Fluoridation "Shocking."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter written to Mayor Henry Patterson.

"It was shocking to see in TOWN TOPICS of July 8th, a notice of less than one month advance, that Fluoridation of our water supply is to be established.

"When Rachel Carson published her book on the harmfulness of certain chemicals, including fluorides, members of the Princeton community were greatly impressed by the ideas she advanced. In spite of this we are now going to be compelled to absorb into our systems fluorides which world - renowned toxicologists warn have long-term potentialities for harm. There is danger of build up of fluorides in the soft tissues and organs of the body, which in cases of older persons can be serious. No doctor can give categorical evidence that such a warning is unwarranted.

"The old Princeton Water Company refused to fluoridate without the support of a public referendum. Is it therefore, coincidental that the scheme is now railroaded through with less than a month's notice, and in a period when a great many citizens are away?

"Incidentally, why does the Board of Health assume that the anti-fluoridationists constitute a minority?

"In the event you are away and may not see this letter, and since time is of the essence, I am sending a copy to TOWN TOPICS."

Distaff Discrimination.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A pattern of discrimination has been observed by this liberal reader of Town Topics. During the weeks of this long, hot summer, your "Sports in Princeton" column has covered the activities of the men's Adult and Business Softball Leagues. But not one word about the women.

The six-team Princeton Research Girls Softball League is supplying a successful inaugural season. (The league secretary is Kay Allen of RCA Laboratories).

This is a league in which fouball homers, head-first slides, and even lost-and-found bases (one runner missed "first" by nearly 20 degrees) are common. Not every game is played in Met-like fashion; the girls are really good.

By not describing the colorful exploits of these Princeton athletes, Town Topics is guilty of reporting with bias and — even worse — of neglecting some truly entertaining stories.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, July 14, 1960: Property owners along Province Line Road were concerned about a road that had appeared on the Lawrence Township Master Plan, designed to run from Port Mercer on the Delaware and Raritan Canal northward across Princeton Pike, Route 206 and Rosedale Road, emerging there at approximately the entrance to Educational Testing Service.

Some 185 signatures opposing the highway — for which a 70-foot right-of-way was planned — had been presented to the municipality's Planning Board. Seventy feet is sufficient for a four-lane highway, but Mercer County Planning Engineer Louis Calvanelli reported that "when the road is built, it will probably be only 24 feet wide. We have specified 70 feet in order to take care of the future."

Five years later, the road is still on the drawing board and while Mr. Calvanelli said in 1960 that "the County is looking ahead 10 to 20 years," time may already have proved him to be something of a prophet. In July 1960, he declared that "if property owners of whom about 13 are involved, do not sell their land, and it remains in its present state the road will not be built. We hope we never need the road and we certainly won't throw money away building roads we don't need."

Firemen in Princeton Junction were thoroughly frustrated when they had to watch a burning boxcar on the Pennsylvania Railroad's main line without being able to douse it with water. The hoses could not be turned on because of the high tension wires, and it was more than an hour before the car could be pulled to a siding where it was safe to use water. Loss of contents ran to $15,000.

Princeton had a summer theatre in 1960 — the University Players were staging Shaw's "Major Barbara" in Murray Theatre. Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho" was at the Playhouse, while TOWN TOPICS' film critic noted that "South Pacific" had finally made it to the Garden.

The summer of 1960 was dry but not as drought-ridden as this year—and a good deal cooler than present temperatures. In contrast to half a dozen excursions above 90 by the 1965 thermometer, five years ago by mid-July there had been but two.

In other news that year, Renwick's Knoll Court Apts. were battling each other for an available liquor license. . . Light industry took a foothold in Princeton Township with approval of a zoning variance to permit establishment of the Princeton Electronics Corporation on Alexander Street. . . . Edwin Toussaint was elected president of the Princeton Lions Club. Mrs. Cevillie Jones retired after 14 years' direction of the Social Service Department at Princeton Hospital. . . .Michael C. Kopliner, a University proctor for 37 years, was TOWN TOPICS' "Man of the Week."

Typically B. Franklin Bunn (whose 85th birthday that summer passed without the notice his 90th achieved a fortnight ago) was in the news for a typical B. Franklin Bunn pronouncement. At a Township Planning Board meeting, members worked themselves into a labyrinth of resolutions and seconding motions from which Mr. Bunn extricated them with the classic proposal: "I make the motion that should be made to do the thing we all think should be done."

TEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, July 14, 1955: A decade ago was no different than the present year in that the news being made reflected the constantly changing status of the Princeton community. Gen. Robert W. Johnson of Rosedale purchased a 53-acre tract across from his home along Stony Brook, thus removing it from the housing development stage. Today, the majority of it constitutes the park and the school which bear his name.

Major reorganization of the financial structure of the Shopping Center was under way in Federal Court in Trenton with Theodore R. Potts, the original developer, seeking to recapitalize through lack of ability to discharge all his obligations despite the fact his assets exceeded his liabilities. Eventually ownership of the Center passed to George P. Warnecke.

In Borough Hall, zoning and building permits were granted to St. Paul's Church for a million-dollar construction program on its Nassau Street property. At the same time, plans were under way for construction of a new firehouse by the Hook and Ladder Co. on North Harrison Street.

Princeton had a summer theatre in 1955, too, but that year it was the Community Players who had taken over Murray Theatre on the University campus. The upcoming production: "The Taming of the Shrew," starring Josephine Cornforth and A. Munroe Wade.

At the Playhouse, Walt Disney's full-length cartoon, "The Lady and the Tramp," was scheduled to be followed by Doris Day in "Love Me or Leave Me." The Garden? Closed for the summer.

On a campus bulletin board in the summer of '55 was this notice:

"I have a wife, six children and eight kittens. That's too much for any man. Interested in offers — so I can dispose of any or all."

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

TOWN TOPICS, July 13, 1950: There was no drought 15 years ago. On Monday of that week, a three and-a-half inch rainfall brough Princeton about as much rain as normally falls in a month.

An architect's sketch of the Princeton Shopping Center revealed the outlines of the $3 million dollar project, scheduled to arise on a 28-acre tract north of Harrison Street. Plans for the undertaking had been announced in 1947; as matters turned out, it was another three years before the Center was formally opened.

Princeton Township reported a 66% increase in population during the decade from 1940 to 1950, and Chairman B. Franklin Bunn told his fellow committee members that they were about to feel numerous growing pains. The most pressing: the need for an additional main trunk sewer, proposed to go eastward from the vicinity of Harrison Street and Valley Road across Snowden Lane, emptying into another main line north of Nassau near Roper Road. Estimated cost for a mile and a half of construction: $30-$35,000.

Township Committee also debated a lighter problem. Thefts of street signs from Lovers Lane (to decorate student's rooms) were so frequent that consideration was given to changing the street's name.

The decision: romance and nostalgia should ever have a part in Princeton. Keep Lovers' Lane for all to enjoy.

DRIVE WILL BEGIN

By First Aid Squad. The 1965 fund drive of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad will begin September 14. As in the past, the campaign will be conducted by mail.

Officials of the organization have pointed out that there is no door - to - door solicitation, sales of magazine subscriptions or any other similar project. If anyone is approached by a person using such methods and claiming to represent the First Aid Squad, he is requested to report it to the police.

The squad answered a record 1027 calls in 1964, including emergencies, transportation of non - ambulatory patients and stand - by service at large public gatherings.

WELCOME!

Princeton, Then LBJ. Tuesday and Wednesday were "Princeton Days" for 84 American Field Service students representing 30 countries. The teen-age boys and girls arrived in two buses on Tuesday and in the hours that followed, they went to a picnic at Shiptaken Farm, toured Princeton University's campus and attended special demonstrations at RCA.

After their Princeton visit, they left for Washington, where they were to be received by President Johnson.

The students have been in the United States for about a year, attending school in Maryland and Virginia. The Princeton visit was an "end-of-stay" trip designed to show the young people how Americans live in other communities.

Mrs. John V. A. Fine made arrangements for the Princeton stop. Mrs. A.H. Summer is president of Princeton's American Field Service chapter.

FACILITIES EXPANDING

At Recording for the Blind. Recording for the Blind has undertaken steps to expand and increase the quality of its recording and monitoring. Recording booths are being enlarged, sound proofing improved and additional recording machines installed.

A large new room has been added for making raised line drawings to accompany recordings and other auxiliary work. The Princeton Unit, supported entirely by Princeton area contributions, is one of 16 similar units from coast to coast.

Any blind student or professional person may request a free recording of any book needed for his work. Books to be recorded are assigned to all units by the New York headquarters, and three to 12 records are made of each book. The catalog contains more than 5000 titles.

Volunteer readers and other workers are always welcomed, and those interested should contact the Princeton unit at 100 Stockton Street (921-6534.)

At present, more than 200 volunteer readers and seven staff members are engaged in recording books.

GREENHOUSE?

Lawrence Summons Nursery, Charles Peterson, who owns Peterson's Market on the Lawrenceville Road, was on the agenda this week for the Lawrence Township Zoning Board. Mr. Peterson has been told to appear at 7:30 for a public hearing on the question of his new greenhouse.

The township hopes to prove that Mr. Peterson is violating the Lawrence zoning ordinance by selling products not actually grown on the site, and by constructing a greenhouse.

The zoning ordinance states that a nursery is permissible in a rural zone only if the plants sold are grown on the property. Neighbors of Mr. Peterson's and members of the North Lawrence Citizens Association claim that Mr. Peterson's commercial operation harms the residential character of the neighborhood. He has had a produce stand on the Lawrenceville Road for many years.

Last year, Mr. Peterson asked for a variance so that he could build his greenhouse, but he was turned down. He then applied to the building inspector for a permit to build the greenhouse as an "accessory use" to the home he had built for himself on the property. The application was approved and Mr. Peterson went ahead. Now the occupancy permit allowing him to operate the greenhouse may be revoked, depending on the zoning board's decision.

PEOPLE In The News

James and Margaret Cawley, 19 Royal Oak Road, Lawrence Township, have written another book, "Along the Old York Road," published by the Rutgers University Press. The Cawleys are former residents of Princeton, having lived at 16 Ober Road.

Authors of "Exploring the Little Rivers of New Jersey," the Cawleys now explore one of the earliest and most important land routes in the state. The Old York Road ran from Philadelphia to Elizabethtown (now Elizabeth), the first capital of the province of New Jersey.

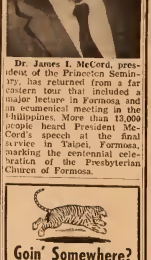
The Cawley's book combines history, legend, and folklore of the area, with a travelogue for those who would like to retrace the route of the Swift-Sure Stagecoach. Many of the buildings—taverns, residences and churches — along the road have been preserved or restored, and the Cawleys have photographed them for this book.

Steven K. Fox, Jr., 292 Bidwell Road, and Dr. and Mrs. John J. Ward, 327 Burd Street, Pennington, attended a conference discussing mass communication at the Unitarian Universalist and Congregational site at Star Island, N. H. The analysis of mass media included the right of the public to know vs. the right to a fair trial; the definition of pornography; and the matter of news management.

Gerald P. Carlos, son of Mr and Mrs. Randolph J. Carlos, Houma, La., has been promoted to airman second class in the U.S. Air Force at McGuire AFB, N. J. His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hurley, 18 Lisfayette Street, Hopewell.

Mrs. Caroline S. Weymar, 107 Mercer Street, has joined Opinion Research Corporation as a research staff assistant. A graduate of Wellesley College, Mrs. Weymar was previously associated with the New England Merchants National Bank of Boston as an assistant trust officer.

Mrs. Sarah L. Huyser, office manager of Kepner-Tregoe & Associates, a member of the Trenton Chapter, National Secretaries Association, International, will attend the 20th annual convention to be held at the Sheraton Hotel in Boston. John A. Volpe, Governor of Massachusetts will welcome the delegates.



Dr. James I. McCord, president of the Princeton Seminary, has returned from a far eastern tour that included a major lecture in Formosa and an ecumenical meeting in the Philippines. More than 13,000 people heard President McCord's speech at the final service in Taipei, Formosa, marking the centennial celebration of the Presbyterian Church of Formosa.

Ingrid D. Jaekel, daughter of Mrs. Selma J. Riess Brickhouse Farm, Hopewell, won the Sweden Day Committee of New York scholarship. On the occasion, she was presented to Princess Christina of Sweden who was in the United States at the time. A graduate of Princeton High School, Miss Jaekel is attending Upsala College, East Orange, and majoring in German and Swedish.

Meta Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson W. Thompson, The Great Road, is among 12 students participating in the MacMurray College Summer Abroad at the University of the Americas in Mexico City. Organized as an integral part of the curriculum, the program is designed to give students an intellectual and cultural experience in a different environment and an opportunity to speak a foreign language.

Five Princeton residents have graduated with honors from Princeton University: Carl A. Breuer, 79 Parkside Drive, high honors in Biology; Karl D. Jackson, 36 Humbert Street, honors in School of Public and International Affairs; Alexander Leitch Jr., 106 Broadmead, honors in classics; Charles M. GOLF EXHIBITION SET

Featuring Gary Player. Apparently fully recovered from the strained neck muscle which forced him out of the British Open last week, Gary Player will take part Sunday in an 18-hole exhibition match at the Mountain View Golf Club in West Trenton.

Doug Sanders, another well-known member of the professional ranks will also be here for the occasion. Rounding out the foursome will be Jim Byer, the district amateur champion, and Freeholder Dick Coffee, Mercer County Heart Fund chairman. Proceeds will benefit the Heart Fund.

Player won the United States Open in June, the affable South African thus becoming the first foreigner to capture the top tournament staged in this country since 1920. Last week in England, he played 36 holes in the British Open before announcing that he could not swing back because of a strained neck muscle. However, on Sunday he entered the Canadian Open and is expected to fly here at the conclusion of the final round in Toronto Saturday afternoon.

Both Player and Sanders will attempt to be the first golfers to break 70 at Mountain View, the county's first public course. The 18-hole layout, covering 6,175 yards, is not long but the greens are unusually small. Par is 71, and no one has bettered that figure by more than one stroke in the eight years since it was opened.

One the world's finest golfers, Player at 28 has won all of the four major tournaments on which the professionals set their sights. He took his first big prize in 1959 when he captured the British Open, and two years later won the Masters. The PGA came his way in 1962 and this year, he conquered Bellerive, the 7,100-yard course in St. Louis which was crowned "the Monster," to win the U.S. Open by virtue of a three-stroke margin in a playoff.

Tickets for Sunday's exhibition are on sale at the Princeton University Store; Princeton Stationers; at booths manned by the Princeton Jaycees in the Shopping Center and at the First National Bank on Saturday, or from any member of the Jaycee organization. Priced at $4 if purchased in advance, they will sell for $6 at Mountain View on Sunday. The match will begin at 1 o'clock.

MRS. SHELDON PREVAILS

In Women's Singles Match. In the final match of the women's singles summer tennis tournament held Friday at the University Courts, Mrs. William K. Seldon yielded the first set to Mrs. Stewart Richardson, 6-4.

Thereafter, however, Mrs. Seldon was in command. She won the second set, 6-3, and overpowered her opponent in the third, 6-0, to win the women's singles crown.

Currently in progress is the mixed doubles tournament. Entries for the men's singles tourney must be in by Friday. Entrants can register at the YMCA office on Avalon Place. There is a $1 entry fee.

ACCELERATOR BEATS ERC

Wins Fifth Straight. A game between the division leaders of the Business Softball League ended with Accelerator rolling to its fifth straight victory, 7-1, at the expense of Engineering Research.

Jack Bartow pitched a fine game, giving up only one run and scattering nine hits to gain credit for the win. Joe McFadden continued to hit well, with three for three and four RBIs. Ed Gorski had a pair of doubles for the winners, while Bob Oehrle went three for three for ERC.

Another inter-division game saw second place Educational Testing knock off American Cyanamid, 6 to 4, behind the eight-hit pitching of Ken Sharples. Dave Friedeborn, Joe Patnick and Tony Greenwald had two hits apiece for ETS, with Greenwald hitting his fourth homer of the season. For Cyanamid, Murray Garber, Al Lyon and Don Wasinski all had two hits.

In an intra-company contest, RCA 1 walloped RCA 2, 16 to 2, as Wally Reichert gave up six hits in winning his fifth game. Max Hopkins went four for five with a homer, Jim Clark three for four with a homer, Walt Hisinbothem three for 4, and Ed Lopatin and John Meyer both got two hits in their at bats. Bill Wright picked up two hits for the losers.

Other games saw RCA Astro move into a tie for third

The Impact of Total Disability
Disabling accidents or sickness lasting longer than 90 days strike one in three people before 65. The average length of this disability is nearly 5 years.
But statistics tell only a small part of the impact story. A man's income is cut off. His family must make tragic readjustments to meet the bills for food, shelter and clothing. Educational plans are postponed indefinitely.
You can be prepared to meet this hazard with a Manufacturers Life's Personal Income Protector Plan. If you are totally disabled it will give you a guaranteed monthly income. It's a flexible policy with a choice of short or long term income periods. Ask the man from Manufacturers to tell you more about it.

place by dropping McGraw-Hill Warehouse, 3 to 2. Pitcher Len Matyeek allowed just four hits, and helped his own cause with a triple. The other two games were won by McGraw-Hill Office over Opinion Research, 13 to 3, and Columbian Carbon over Hopewell TV, 12 to 8.

The outcome of the ETS-ERC game two weeks ago is still in doubt, pending action by a league committee. The managers of Cynanamid, RCA Astro and RCA 1 have been appointed to a committee, and asked for a formal letter of protest from ETS. Upon receipt of the letter, the committee will decide whether to hold a meeting with the two managers and umpires involved in the game, or make a ruling without one.

SATURDAY IS DEADLINE

To Enter District Tennis Tourney. All junior tennis players in the Princeton area are urged to mail their entry blanks, for the New Jersey District Junior Tennis Championships to John Conroy, 310 Nassau Street, no later than Friday. Entries close Saturday. Entry blanks may be obtained from LaVake Jewelers, Nassau Street, from the bulletin boards at the University Courts, or from any instructor of the Community Tennis Program.

The championship event is scheduled to begin on Monday. All entrants are requested to register at the Pagoda, one of the University Courts by 9:0 a.m. in the event of rain, the tournament will begin the same time and place the following day.

Students attending summer music school must register the first day in order to avoid a default. Thereafter, it will be possible to arrange matches so as to avoid a conflict with classes.

There will be six separate singles divisions: boys 16, 14 and 12; and girls 16, 14 and 12. In addition, there will be a doubles for boys 16 and under and one for girls 16 and under. Consolations are also being planned for any event where there are sufficient entries. This means first-round losers will be guaranteed a second match.

Players are asked to come dressed for play. Balls will be supplied. There will be a free lunch served at the courts on the first day of the tournament.

On Thursday, July 22, during the final rounds, Ed Faulkner, 1964 Davis Cup coach, will make his second visit of the summer to Princeton. All participants are invited to hear Faulkner conduct a clinic.

REGISTER NOW

For YWCA Tennis Classes. Registrations are still being accepted for the second three-week period of YWCA tennis classes which will start Monday and run through August 7.

Beginners and advanced beginners classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday, while an evening class for teenagers will be held Monday and Thursdays. All will be conducted at the Princeton High School courts.

Adult classes are held at the Hun School courts on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and at the high school on Monday and Thursday evenings. Register at the YWCA where complete information is available. The telephone is 924-4825.

BOWERS RETAINS LEAD

In Junior Baseball League. A victory and a tie in the two games last week enabled Bowers to retain its first place lead in the YMCA Junior Baseball League.

The tie was gained with Nassau Oil as both teams had scored three runs before darkness called a halt. In Bowers' second game, Pat Corvino homered with one on to provide the winning margin in a 6-4 triumph over Water Co. Jim Perone also drove in two Bowers' runs with a triple.

In other action, Water Co. defeated Matthews, last year's champion, 3-3, behind Nick Arcaro. George Luck collected two hits for the victors, while Billy Brooks rapped out two triples and a double for Matthews. Dean Sutton took the loss.

Nassau Oil also turned on winless Matthews, winning 10-8 in a free-swinging affair. Nassau's John Westfeld went three-for-three, with his final hit, a triple, driving in three runs. Tim Haigh was the winning pitcher; Jack March, the loser.

The standings:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Bowers	3	0	1	18
Nassau Oil	2	1	1	14
Water Co.	2	2	0	12
Matthews	0	4	0	4

FIRST GAMES PLAYED

In Summer Lacrosse League. First contests were played last week in the newly-organized Princeton Summer Lacrosse League. Through August 11, two games will be played every Wednesday evening at the Community Park field, starting at 6:30.

The four teams are comprised primarily of players and alumni of the Hun School, Princeton High School and Princeton University. Each entrant in the league was assigned a point rating based on his skill and experience, and, according to the league Director, Hawley Waterman, Hun lacrosse coach, the four emergent teams are as close to each other in their aggregate point total as possible.

In opning matches, the Red team defeated the Blue team, 5-4. Bill Hunter of Hun scored three times for the Reds, while Mike Merritt of Hun and John Steiger of PHS added single tallies. Brian McCarthy of PHS was credited with an assist.

For the Blues, single goals were scored by Mark Soldavin and Mark Savidge, both of Hun, and by Pete Smith, Hobart College, and Barry Sullivan of Bucknell. Savidge also chipped in with an assist. Roger Ballentin of Peddie and James Coane of Hun were goalies for the winners and losers.

In a second contest, the Green team defeated the Gold team 6-3. Scoring two goals for the victors were Pete Hagens of Hun and Phil Alco of Princeton University. Single goals were added by Sam Stewart of North Carolina, former PHS co-captain, and Ray Soldavin of Hun. Villanova's Jack Roese had an assist.

Hun's Dave Leete's pair of goals and one by Carl Burns, PHS standout, accounted for all the scoring by the Gold team. Burns and Stewart Hasid and Hun had assists. Frederick Wandell of Taft was goalie for the Green team; Gil Bliss for the losers.

Officials for the two contests were Dick Colman, Princeton University football coach, and Phil Winn, former Hun lacrosse captain. There is still room for anyone who wishes to participate in the program, Waterman reports. Application blanks may be obtained from the Township Recreation Department.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

A student of bird lore was telling us about Birds of Paradise, which are found in New Guinea and adjacent lands. When a few skins and feathers of these birds were presented there to Juan Sebastian del Cano on his voyage around the world in 1522, he believed that such beauty must have come from Paradise, hence their name. In their mating they put on quite a show while the female enjoys the performance from a nearby tree. He struts forth with feathers extended and goes through all kinds of dance steps. His dance over, he flys to her tree and hangs upside down to further display his beauty. After the mating the male and female go their separate ways, unlike the majority of birds. We haven't any Birds of Paradise to show you, but right now we do have some of the most beautiful BUYS you have ever seen! Kammler Buick - Pontiac Co., Route 206, opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

THERE'S NO OTHER HOUSE LIKE THIS ONE on the market in the Princeton, or any other, area that we know of. If you adore split levels, center hall Colonials, compact ranch houses, you'll hate this one. But if you like a combination of casual charm, somewhat mad layout and endless posthilarities for variations on the theme, this is for you. And our guess is that there are a lot of "you's" househunting right now!

The rambling frame house, nestled on a lovely wooded setting, conveys a feeling of its personality on first sight. The rustic atmosphere moves inside with panelling in many rooms, including the large living room with brick fireplace wall. Besides the kitchen, there are four more first floor rooms (one with fireplace) plus tiled bath and laundry - powder - bathhouse room. The rooms are of varying sizes (one is about 25 x 47, for instance). The upstairs is quite peculiar — four nice bedrooms plus tiled bath. Storage space is plentiful. The two lovely acres, including hot stall, potential playhouse and pretty fenced pool with brick terrace, are an ideal playground. Exclusively ours at $57,000. R. M. LIGHT REAL ESTATE, 242 Nassau St., Tel. 924-3822. Ample parking!

OPPORTUNITY . . . rarely does a homeseeker find, in Princeton Township, a beautiful 3-acre wooded plot with a liveable house on it for under $30,000. Admittedly, the house is small and needs redecorating. On the other hand, if you have a flair for design and are willing to put up with a modest dwelling while you are adding to it and improving the property, this could be the best opportunity available in Princeton. at this time, to have what will become, in the years ahead, one of the most charming and unusual homes in this vicinity. Ready to move into at once, this seems to us to be a very special opportunity for you who have imagination and the ability to judge not on the basis of what you look at, but what you can see in the future. $26,000

NEW COLONIAL . . . standing on a terrace among beautiful shade trees on a 2-acre plot in Stuart Hill. Large (16x26) living room with fireplace, paneled library with bar (in the closet), separate dining room, all-electric kitchen, maid's room and bath. Second floor: 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Location, however, is what makes this beautiful property unique. Across the road is the new Stuart Country Day School. And, within short walk, are the wonderful new Princeton Day Schools . . . Here is our town's special situation — a new "Campus Concept" of country living. (Sole Agent) $79,500

OLD COLONIAL . . . only a short drive from any of the research installations located west of Princeton. Completely modernized, and decorated in exquisite taste. 5 Bedrooms, 2 baths and powder room. Center hall, living and dining rooms with fireplace — and a kitchen that is dramatically modern, yet charming because of the vast old "cooking fireplace" next to the breakfast area. Also, a barn and an acre of land.
(Sole Agent) $33,000

RIVERSIDE . . . where lofty shade trees provide a very beautiful setting for such a fine home as this. Only 3 years old, there is living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, breakfast nook, study (or, perhaps a 4th bedroom) and bath — and 3 more bedrooms and 2 baths. If you want to live close to school, yet in the privacy and seclusion of a wooded neighborhood away from through traffic, this charming home should delight you. (sole agent) $48,500

LIBERAL FINANCING! . . . . Long, low, beautiful — one story in front, two-story in back, on a sloping 3-acre lot — this big house in the wooded seclusion of beautiful Brookstone has a vast living room with fireplace, spacious dining room, all-electric kitchen, 7 bedrooms, 3 baths, maid's room & bath — and, downstairs, opening to the terrace, a very large family room and powder room. $79,500

Congratulations

To The...

Borough and Township Boards of Health
Community's Medical and Dental Practitioners
Princeton Water Company

We at The Thorne Pharmacy salute you for your decision to fluoridate Princeton's Water Supply.

We realize that there are some who will not agree with your decision. However, those who are truly interested in the health of the Community, particularly the health of our children, know that you have made the right decision.

We, also, realize that this will mean a reduction in our prescription volume – for we will not be filling as many vitamin with fluoride prescriptions. However, this is business we are glad to lose.

Now we know that the children of Princeton will have the opportunity to grow up having healthy teeth.

Sincerely yours,

The Thorne Pharmacy
